

JON SCHOFIELD

SENIOR DIRECTOR

MANCHESTER

quick facts

- 20+ years of experience in technology in industry and advisory roles
- Extensive deals experience, having led technology due diligence on 120+ transactions for PE and corporate clients
- Has worked across a range of sectors, including industrials, financial services and consumer/retail

Jon Schofield is a Senior Director with Alvarez & Marsal's Digital and Technology Services in the U.K. He brings more than 20 years of experience working in technology in both industry and advisory roles.

Prior to joining A&M, Mr. Schofield spent six years with KPMG's Technology in M&A practice, specializing in technology due diligence for private equity clients. There, he gained extensive deals experience from working on 120+ transactions across a variety of sectors, including industrials, financial services and consumer/retail.

Previously, Mr. Schofield spent 15 years with General Electric in a variety of technology roles, including graduating their information management leadership program. He also spent seven years working on post-deal technology integration and separation for the aviation, capital, energy and oil and gas businesses, where he was responsible for leading technology infrastructure integration separation programmes.

Mr. Schofield earned a bachelor's degree in politics and international relations from Hull University and a master's degree in computation from the University of Manchester Institute of Science & Technology.